The Restart Task Force received definitive guidelines from the national office of the ELCA. (<http://download.elca.org.Considerations for Returning to In-person Worship>.) We also received advice from the SC Synod (<http://scsynod.com/Covid-19>.) We gathered this information and have used it to develop a plan to begin worship in the Sanctuary once the Restart Task Force is ready to recommend a start date. In order for this to take place, there will be a great need for volunteers.

These recommendations are presented with the aim of reducing the level of risk to our congregation and our pastor and staff. We have had two members die from this virus already. It does not seem advisable to restart in-person worship until advice from the national church, the SC Synod and health officials deem it is safe.

Good Shepherd is currently offering the following opportunities for worship each week: Drive-In Worship in the parking lot, the sermon on the GSLC website and mailed to those members without computer access, and a new video stream of a worship service on YouTube.

The Restart Task Force, Congregation Council, and the Pastor welcome any suggestions, insights, concerns or recommendations from all members of the congregation. The Restart Task Force will make the recommendation to the Council to begin in-person worship when guidelines have been met.

This has been a difficult time for everyone. We all want to return to our Sanctuary. Let us pray for patience, grace and flexibility as we strive to make the most appropriate decision for the people of God at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church at this time.

In peace,

Marcia Woodward
Council President

A WORD FROM OUR PASTOR

⁹ When [the magi] had heard the king, they set out; and there, ahead of them, went the star that they had seen at its rising, until it stopped over the place where the child was. ¹⁰ When they saw that the star had stopped, they were overwhelmed with joy. ¹¹ On entering the house, they saw the child with Mary his mother; and they knelt down and paid him homage. Then, opening their treasure chests, they offered him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. ¹² And having been warned in a dream not to return to Herod, they left for their own country by another road.

Matthew 2:9-12

Few figures in scripture have captured our imaginations like the magi. We commemorate their visit to Jesus on January 6, the day of Epiphany. Unlike the jealous and tyrannical King Herod, these mysterious visitors from Eastern lands recognized and celebrated Jesus' kingship, becoming the first gentiles to worship and adore Christ. We likely picture them in exotic clothing, perhaps accompanied by camels. We hear that they had vast riches in treasure chests—gold and precious and costly ointments.

But what strikes me more than the extraordinary aspects of this story are the seemingly ordinary details. We hear that they came to a house—apparently by the time the magi visited Jesus, his parents had found more comfortable lodging in Bethlehem. More than that, they were welcomed into the house and spent some time and fellowship with Mary and Jesus. Again, this seems like a small, perhaps mundane detail. Yet the welcome that the magi gave to Jesus and Mary and the welcome that the Holy Family gave to the magi in return created the space for Jesus Christ to be revealed to the gentiles for the first time. The king they came to welcome and celebrate was not just to be the King of Israel, but also the King of all nations; the King of Kings.

Likewise, I marvel at the magi's courage to ignore Herod's royal command to bring word of Jesus' whereabouts back to him. Defying a king is not something to be done lightly. Rather, led by faith, the magi decided to heed the command of God rather than the command of the earthly ruler. They went home by another road.

The willingness to give and receive welcome and the vision to find a new road are the things that stand out to me about this passage. We have much to learn from the magi's actions in the coming year.

I invite you to find new ways to welcome others. Perhaps this will continue to be done virtually or digitally in the coming year, but perhaps as the pandemic subsides we can resume that ancient custom of welcoming people into our homes in-person.

One way we can prepare our hearts and homes for welcome is to bless our homes. This is an ancient tradition during the season of Epiphany. This can be a very formal event, led by a clergy person. I've done quite a few house blessings and this is always a joy. But you can ask God's blessing upon your own house by yourself or with your family or friends. I can't think of a better way to start a new year. One Eastern European tradition involves writing a blessing over the door of a home in chalk. The blessing looks like this:

20 + CMB + 21

The numbers and letters are separated by crosses. The numbers change with each new year. The three letters signify the ancient Latin blessing Christe mansionem benedicat, meaning "Christ, bless this house." Also, the letters represent the legendary names of the magi (Caspar, Melchior, and Balthasar).

You can adapt this custom for use in your own household or you can simply pray a brief prayer of God's blessing on your house, all who dwell within, and all whom you will welcome in the coming year.

In addition to welcoming others this year, let us also, like the magi, be open to the new roads God will lead us on in the coming year. We may not yet know the way, but we trust God to bring us safely home together.

May you share in the overwhelming joy, generosity, and obedience of the magi in this new year.

Christ bless you now and always,
Pastor Andrew

MESSAGE FROM PAST AND PRESENT CHURCH COUNCIL PRESIDENTS

I want to take this opportunity to say thank you for the opportunity to once again serve Good Shepherd as president of our congregation. There are many adjectives we all could use to describe this past year. We have all too often heard them all before. But in spite of all our challenges, we are surviving and forging ahead. We have something a lot of churches have not had this past year and that is a place to worship safely.

As we look ahead to 2021 there seems to be hope on the horizon. We all need to keep pushing forward. The 2020 council had some difficult decisions to make this past year. They were not always popular, but they made those decisions in the best interest of all with the information available. I have the upmost confidence the next council will do the same.

Maybe we did not accomplish everything we had set out to do this past year, but we still have a lot to be thankful for. At the beginning of the year, Pastor Andrew led the council retreat talking about God's abundance around us. Looking back, we certainly were blessed with God's abundance even with the limitations placed before us. This is evident in several ways. The most obvious to me is seeing 80-100 of you gathered in your cars in the parking lot every Sunday to attend a most unusual type of worship service. On behalf of everyone who has a hand in making this happen, thank you for your support. It means a lot to all of us.

In spite of the past and current events, it has been a privilege and honor to serve as your president. I thank you again for the opportunity.

Peace to all,
Ed Beaman
2020 Council President

It is a humbling task to serve as council president of Good Shepherd, especially during the current time. I promise to work diligently. You have elected a very competent council and I look forward to working with them. If you ever have any concerns, you can reach me at sramiw@hotmail.com or my cell 803-429-2487.

2020 has been a very difficult year for everyone. The church is no exception. The way we worship, the activities that we enjoy participating in together, our ability to comfort one another in times of sickness and death, even the manner in which we greet each other have all been altered. Yet, in spite of these difficult circumstances, we have found a way to worship, to enjoy, comfort and greet each other.

Let us give thanks for our many blessings. We pray for strength and that the Lord will lead us through these troubling days and give us hope. (Romans 8:24-25) For in this hope we were saved. Now hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for what he sees? But if we hope for what we do not see, we wait for it with patience.

May we work together in this new year, patiently and with renewed hope. And we ask God to help us.

In peace,
Marcia Woodward
2021 Council President

JANUARY SOCIAL MINISTRY EMPHASIS

The Woodyard Fund is the social ministry emphasis for January at Good Shepherd.

A joint project of The State newspaper and The Salvation Army, the Woodyard Fund helps residents in crisis in Richland, Lexington, Newberry and Fairfield counties pay utilities bills. Applicants are vetted and must meet certain criteria to receive aid.

Eligible households get vouchers redeemable at businesses that provide heating services. The Salvation Army reimburses the businesses for the voucher amounts.

The fund dates to 1816, when the Ladies Benevolent Society provided firewood and coal to families in need in Columbia. In 1930, The State newspaper began publicizing the fund each winter.

Good Shepherd has supported the fund for a number of years. If you'd like to support this effort, you may contribute any time during January by sending your offering to the church office or dropping it off when you come to the Drive-In Worship Service.

Checks should be made to Good Shepherd and designated for The Woodyard Fund.

LECTIONARY FOR JANUARY 2021

JANUARY 3 – SECOND SUNDAY OF CHRISTMAS

Within the gospel reading's profound words lies the simple message that God is revealed in a human person. Though we may try to understand how the Word existed with God from the beginning of time, the wonder we celebrate at Christmas is that the Word continues to dwell among us. Christ comes among us in the gathered assembly, the scriptures, the waters of new birth, and the bread and the wine. Through these ordinary gifts we receive the fullness of God's grace and truth.

FIRST READING – Jeremiah 31:7-14

God promises to bring Israel back to its land from the most remote parts of exile. In Zion Israel will rejoice over God's gift of food and livestock. Young women will express their joy in dancing; God will give gladness instead of sorrow.

PSALM – Psalm 147:12-20

Worship the LORD, O Jerusalem; praise your God, O Zion. (Ps. 147:12)

SECOND READING – Ephesians 1:3-14

In Jesus, all of God's plans and purposes have been made known as heaven and earth are united in Christ. Through Jesus, we have been chosen as God's children and have been promised eternal salvation.

GOSPEL – John 1:[1-9] 10-18

John begins his gospel with this prologue: a hymn to the Word through whom all things were created. This Word became flesh and brought grace and truth to the world.

JANUARY 10 – BAPTISM OF OUR LORD

Our re-creation in baptism is an image of the Genesis creation, where the Spirit of God moved over the waters. Both Mark's gospel and the story in Acts make clear that it is the Spirit's movement that distinguishes Jesus' baptism from John's. The Spirit has come upon us as upon Jesus and the Ephesians, calling us God's beloved children and setting us on Jesus' mission to re-create the world in the image of God's vision of justice and peace.

FIRST READING – Genesis 1:1-5

Out of chaos, God brings order. Out of the formless void, God brings light. This familiar story was good news for the Israelites, who experienced much chaos in their history. It remains good news for us. God created and continues to create new life.

PSALM – Psalm 29

The voice of the LORD is upon the waters. (Ps. 29:3)

SECOND READING – Acts 19:1-7

In Ephesus, Paul encounters people who had received John's baptism of repentance but had never heard of the Holy Spirit or of baptism in the name of Jesus. After Paul baptizes them, the Holy Spirit comes upon them and empowers them with gifts of the Spirit.

GOSPEL – Mark 1:4-11

Mark's gospel reports the story of Jesus' baptism with some irony: the one on whom the Spirit descends is himself the one who will baptize others with the Holy Spirit.

JANUARY 17 – SECOND SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY

All the baptized have a calling in God's world. God calls not just pastors and deacons but also the youngest child, like Samuel. The story of the calling of Nathanael plays with the idea of place. Nathanael initially dismisses Jesus because he comes from Nazareth. But where we come from isn't important; it's where—or rather whom—we come to. Jesus refers to Jacob, who had a vision in a place he called "the house of God, and . . . the gate of heaven" (Gen. 28:17). Jesus says he himself is the place where Nathanael will meet God.

FIRST READING – 1 Samuel 3:1-10 [11-20]

At a time when visions are rare and unexpected, the LORD comes to Samuel and calls him to speak the divine word. Though just a boy, Samuel responds to God obediently, as Eli the priest has taught him to respond. This marks the beginning of Samuel's prophetic ministry.

PSALM – Psalm 139:1-6, 13-18

You have searched me out and known me. (Ps. 139:1)

SECOND READING – 1 Corinthians 6:12-20

Paul helps the Corinthians understand that God has claimed the entirety of their lives through the death of Christ. Hence Christian relationships and conduct, including areas of human sexuality, are to reflect the reality that we belong to Christ and that the Holy Spirit lives within us.

GOSPEL – John 1:43-51

In John's gospel, Jesus' ministry begins with the call of disciples, who then bring others to Jesus. Philip's friend Nathanael moves from skepticism to faith when he accepts the invitation to "Come and see."

JANUARY 24 – THIRD SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY

As we continue through the time after Epiphany, stories of the call to discipleship show us the implications of our baptismal calling to show Christ to the world. Jesus begins proclaiming the good news and calling people to repentance right after John the Baptist is arrested for preaching in a similar way. Knowing that John was later executed, we see at the very outset the cost of discipleship. Still, the two sets of brothers leave everything they have known and worked for all their lives to follow Jesus and fish for people.

FIRST READING – Jonah 3:1-5, 10

The book of Jonah is a comedy starring a reluctant prophet who is given a one-sentence message: Nineveh will be destroyed in forty days. Much to Jonah's dismay, the people of Nineveh repent. The point of the story is to get the reader to wrestle with the question "On whom should God have mercy?"

PSALM – Psalm 62:5-12

God alone is my rock and my salvation. (Ps. 62:6)

SECOND READING – 1 Corinthians 7:29-31

Paul does not disapprove of marriage or other human social institutions. He does, however, want Christians to live in the present in fervent anticipation of God's future, which even now has dawned through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

GOSPEL – Mark 1:14-20

Before Jesus calls his first disciples, he proclaims a message that becomes known as "the gospel" or good news from God. God is ready to rule our lives. Those who realize this will respond with repentance and faith.

JANUARY 31 – FOURTH SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY

In Deuteronomy God promises to raise up a prophet like Moses, who will speak for God; in Psalm 111 God shows the people the power of God's works. For the church these are ways of pointing to the unique authority people sensed in Jesus' actions and words. We encounter that authority in God's word, around which we gather, the word that prevails over any lesser spirit that would claim power over us, freeing us to follow Jesus.

FIRST READING – Deuteronomy 18:15-20

Today's reading is part of a longer discourse in Deuteronomy, an updating of the law for the Israelite community as the people wait to enter the promised land. Here Moses assures the people that God will continue to guide them through prophets who will proclaim the divine word.

PSALM – Psalm 111

The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom. (Ps. 111:10)

SECOND READING – 1 Corinthians 8:1-13

Paul is concerned about the way some Corinthian Christians use their freedom in Christ as license to engage in non-Christian behavior that sets a damaging example to other, impressionable believers. Christians have a responsibility to each other that their behavior does not cause another to sin.

GOSPEL – Mark 1:21-28

Forces that would bring death and disease have taken hold of a man, yet they recognize Jesus and know what his power means for them. Jesus commands these forces to leave and people are amazed at his authority.
